TRUSTEES CLOSE ROAD HOUSE; LEGION WILL TALK BONUS

CITY TRUSTEE BOUGHT BOOZE IN EMPORIUM IN EL CERRITO

"The Emporium," at San Pablo avenue and Fink Lane in the City of El Cerrito, which has been operating under a soft drink permit, but which Trustee F. D. Grant claimed has been operating as a bootlegging joint, received a knockout blow at the meeting of the trustees of El Cerrito last evening.

Plenty of Liquor, Report

C. Beeson asked for a transfer of the permit from Aug Kramer, but Trustees promptly made a motion that the application be denied and that the permit issued to Kramer be cancelled. Grant stated that but very little tobaccos and soft drinks were sold at the place, but he knew that plenty of liquor had been sold.

Speaks From Own Knowledge

At the conclusion of the trustees meeting Grant stated to the Record-Herald representative that he knew of his own personal knowledge just how the place had been operating, as he had purchased liquor there himself.

On roll call all members of the board voted "aye" and in the future the city marshal will see that the place remains closed.

Coon and Howard Seek Early Trial

A great deal of interest attaches to the case of the State of California against A. Coon and Ralph Howard, held in $2500 bail each with receiving stolen goods in connection with the alleged robbery of the Santa Fe Railway.

Pierce & Carlson, attorneys for the accused men, have applied to Justice of the Peace John Roth for an immediate preliminary for their clients.

These two cases brought out the necessity of the organization of a social service bureau for El Cerrito, and Mr. Adams was asked by the trustees to see that such an organization was brought into existence, and the trustees would co-operate in every way possible.

The site of the new station is right near the Hutchinson Quarries, between Schmidt Lane and Fink Lane, site. The mere location of the station

THINKOGRAPHS By F. J. HULANISKI

GEORGE WASHINGTON ET AL.

We do not see just why George Washington, Lincoln and others wanted to be born on holidays, because that interferes with a proper celebration of their birthday. People do not want to use up holidays celebrating birthdays, because they have got to go joyriding, or go to the movies so the Arbuckles and Taylors and their multiplicity of affinities can continue to draw down a thousand dollars a week apiece for affinity purposes. Anyone who is keeping up a few affinities can tell you that a thousand dollars a week is none too much, now that the cost of living is where it is.

That little space the metropolitan press could spare from pictures and movie actors and actresses during February was devoted to pictures of Washington and Lincoln, thus proving that the city papers aim to be fair with all celebrities. Probably not more than ten times the space has been devoted to Hollywood vamps than Washington and Lincoln received, notwithstanding that Washington and Lincoln pay nothing for their space, and the vamps do. Modern journalism is not a bit more mercenary than landlords, plumbers or auto bandits.

George Washington was greatly handicapped in early life by the fact that he could not tell a lie. Considering this he did mighty well. He was an aristocrat with powdered wig and hundreds of negro slaves, but he was also a good scrapper, and succeeded in crossing the Delaware amid the big chunks of ice, something Eliza and the bloodhounds have never been able to do since, though they are still trying. History states that George manufactured 200 barrels of whisky on his plantation every year, and if it had the kick of 1922 booze it is no wonder he put a tin ear on the British. We have seen fellows with only three drinks surrounded who offered to whip the whole world and Jack Dempsey thrown in for good measure.

Lincoln used to split fence rails all day for about 50 cents per ten or twelve hours, then walk fourteen miles to borrow a book that explained the interesting parts of the Bible, and read it by the light of a wood fire in the grate. No boy would do that nowadays. He hops into his racing car, goes down to the library, gets a copy of "Three Weeks" and skims through it under an electric light.

Yet the sterling honor, honesty and patriotism of these men last forever, while thousands of we of today die and are forgotten. This proves that we as a people respect and revere those qualities, even though we lack much of living up to them.

Ten years from now all this booze ruction will be over and forgotten. The rising generation will not know what the desire for liquor is, and will never see a saloon, and when told how we, their fathers, fought and tore each other's hair out by the roots about it they will wonder why we were so foolish.

Statistics show that only one man out of sixty has enough money on hand when he dies to give him a decent burial; but all of them can tell you just how the Government ought to be run and the financial system fixed up all right.

Any time we can't find anything else to be thankful for, we are thankful we don't live in New York. In winter most of the people turn into icicles and in summer all of them are half oleomargarine.

The Golden Rule was old when Egypt and China were young, and hasn't got into active operation yet. Human nature changes slowly.

Margot Asquith, the English member of parliament, is in this country lecturing and telling we Americans what's the matter with us. An eastern newspaper explains that her first name is pronounced "margo," the "t" being silent. Glad to know there is something silent about her.

The rumor that the Hollywood colony is now filming the Ten Commandments is unfounded in fact.

You have heard a hundred men say they could drink or let it alone. Which did they do?

GREAT WEALTH OF FEW

It is not the poverty of the masses that causes the unrest, for, compared to other nations, this country and its mass of people are very well off, but it is the vast wealth of the very few that acts as an irritant. That a few of our people revel in luxury, pomp and power is a fact patent to all, and that the average only "gets by" is also well known, so no argument about the fact is required. Neither is there any use getting mad about it and riling up our political or other prejudices. We must think sensibly and act likewise, with good judgment, and then remedies for any ill we do not like can be found.

A century ago in America there were no such glaring inequalities as now exist. There were no fifty-million-dollar fortunes, much less billion-dollar fortunes such as a few have today. If the workmingman's piano was a gourd filled fiddle or banjo and his automobile a spavined cause, at least his employer was not erecting palaces, buying up congressmen and senators, putting the presidency up on an auction block, nor purchasing dissolute foreign titled snobocracy for daughter to play at marriage and divorce wit. If the farmer's wife wore linsey-woolsey and went barefooted to save her shoes, her daughters did not import $5000 gowns from Paris nor put jeweled collars on her pet cur poodle. The difference between the immensely rich and the average person is now more sharply defined than ever before, and the willful waste on the part of this few is breeding anarchy and bolshevism in the womb of want and class hatred in the hearts of the masses. Wise legislation can remedy this to some extent, at least, and we must send honest and honorable men to represent us in our legislative bodies. If we have none such, then it is because we are lacking in honor and honesty ourselves, for the legislator generally averages up with the community that breeds and selects him. We need more men like Abraham Lincoln and less like Mark Hanna and Boies Penrose, more like Taft and Bryan and less like Newberry. We need more followers of Jesus of Nazareth and less bowing down to the Golden Calf.

U. S. blimp bursts 20000 feet up in the air and kills 33. If there is anything we have not lost it is a blimp or any other kind of balloon. We like to be a "bird," but have no hankering to fly. Of course science much claim its victims, but it does seem that mixing electric wires with gas bags would be against life insurance rules. Being brought home in a gunnysack, so mussed up that the arms cannot be told from the legs is discouraging. We prefer editing and taking chances of being shot, or half shot, or something.

And now that Ireland has freedom and home rule, more or less, Egypt wants to try it. Egypt is the place where the sacred elephant wears a cloth of gold and the people go as near naked as a chorus girl.

Reducing our army and navy is good, but doing away with them alsogether would be foolish. Among other reasons is the fact that there are several million foreign bolsheviots in this country.

Murder and suicide are both on the increase. Why can't the doctors and philosophers tell us what the reason is? There must be a reason. What is is?

There are decent people in the movies, of course, and the wonder is that the producers do not star them instead of the other kind.

The spring style catalogues do not say whether sprinkling or immersing is to be the style, but are good. If it's a Bolshevist he needs both.

And now a woman asks a divorce because her husband is too stingy to subscribe for the local paper. Granted, and with large alimony. Call the next case.

A British economist says money is of no real use and we ought to return to barter. Huh! How could we play poker?

Queries and Answers On Subject Of the Federal Income Law

By NELSON G. WELBURN

Federal Law Advisor and Income Tax Expert. Offices with T. H. De ap, First National Bank Bldg.

(Questions on the income Tax addressed to Nelson G. Welburn, care of the Richmond Record-Herald, will be given prompt and careful attention.)

Q. May an executor or administrator render his fiduciary returns prior to the close of the calendar year in a case where the estate is finally distributed and he is discharged from and relieved of his trust during that year?—J. K.

A. An administrator or executor may, immediately after his discharge upon final accounting, file with the proper collector of internal revenue a return covering the income and deductions of the estate for the period January 1 to the date of his discharge. To such a return there should be attached a certificate, under seal, setting forth the fact of the final accounting and discharge of the administrator or executor, and the tax assessed against that return may be paid immediately after receipt from the collector of a notice of the amount assessed and a demand therefor.

Q. In 1921 a corporation or firm to which I had loaned money since March 1, 1913, became bankrupt. May this debt be considered absolutely worthless and claimed as a deduction for 1921?—M. P.

A. Yes; if it is definitely known that nothing can be collected from the debtor itself or any person connected with it.

Comment—Intangibles, the use of which in the trade or business is definitely limited in duration, may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. Examples are patents and copyrights, licenses and franchises. Intangibles, the use of which in the business or trade is not so limited, will not usually be a proper subject of such an allowance. If, however, an intangible asset acquired through capital outlay is known from experience to be of value in the business for only a limited period, the length of which can be estimated from experience with reasonable certainty, such intangible asset may be the subject of a depreciation allowance, provided the facts are fully shown in the return or prior thereto to the satisfaction of the commissioner.

IT WENT TO THE SPOT

Lingering colds and coughs that hang on and wear one out are difficult to get rid of, but Henry E. Campbell, R. F. D. No. 3, Adrian, Mich., writes: "I had a bad cough for three years. Tried several cough medicines. Got little relief. I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. It went to the spot. There is no better remedy on the market." Good for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough—clears the passages; soothes irritated membranes; stops tickling in the throat. Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Uric Acid in Meats Brings Rheumatism

Says a little Salts in water may save you from dread attack

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through th esystem, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well. Adv.

Girl Neglects Clothes For Hope Chest

"What's the idea, Nancy? Why all the yellow linen luncheon sets? Didn't know you were domestically inclined. Have you gone and got engaged, too? Who is it?"

"I'm not engaged," said Nancy, blushing. "I saw a bargain in this lovely linen and couldn't help buying it for my hope chest. And I was going to buy a hat with that money, too. I do need some clothes but I see so many pretty things that I want to embroider I can't help buying them."

"Say, do you mind telling me what you want a full hope chest for, if you go around looking shabby yourself? I never did see a man who was blind to pretty clothes. You had better can that hope chest idea for a while and get yourself that pretty hat and coat you want."

"Oh, I can't now. I have spent so much money on other things I don't see how I can get clothes now."

"I'll tell you how. Go to Cherry's at 515 13th street and make a small payment if you can, otherwise it will not be necessary for 30 days, and then the rest every month. But do get some clothes. What's a hope chest without a man?"

Cherry's store for men is at 528 13th street, where they are selling that wonderful o'coat for workingmen at $10.—Advertisement.

Tom Mix Will Thrill Them At The Macdonald

Tom Mix, the Fox daredevil of the screen, is coming to the Macdonald Theater today in a "A Ridin' Romeo." In this picture Tom does some new stunts that Manager Rex Lane declares will make you laugh while they give you a thrill. Tom wrote the play himself, so you can realize that he has put into it all the things he likes to do; and besides, Tom would just naturally write into a story more daredevilry than any ordinary writer might imagine he could do. You see, Tom has done probably bigger thrillers on the range when he was a cowboy and when no one was watching him than he ever has put on the screen.

He has written himself into all kinds of mischievous trouble in "A Ridin' Romeo." Everybody but his sweetheart is crying him down, until they find he hasn't done half the things charged against him, and nothing really criminal. Then, crowd-like, everybody turns out to cheer for him.

This Mix picture, produced by Fox, is declared to be most palatable entertainment.

It shows today and tomorrow, with the usual Saturday matinee.

Sage Tea Darkens Hair to Any Shade

Don't stay gray! Here's a simple recipe that anybody can apply with a hair brush

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glosy.

WOMEN'S WOES

Richmond Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with rocking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know:

Mrs. J. A. Heck, motorman, 427 Nineteenth street, Richmond, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone in need of a kidney remedy. About a year ago I had attacks of backache and felt dull and miserable. The action of my kidneys was irregular and caused me lots of annoyance. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them from La Moine's Drug Store, and their use soon relieved the trouble. I was free from backaches and kidney complaint."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for akidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Heck had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Occupying a dilapidated shack in the Silent City, a squatter settlement near Ithaca, New York, Polly Hopkins lives with her father, small Jerry, and an old woman, Granny Hope. On an adjacent farm, Oscar Bennett, prosperous farmer, is a neighbor. He is secretly married to Evelyn Robertson, supposedly wealthy girl of the neighborhood. Polly alone knows their secret. Marcus MacKenzie, who owns the ground the squatters occupy, is their determined enemy. Polly overhears a conversation between MacKenzie and a stranger, in which the former avows his intention of driving the squatters from his land. The stranger sympathizes with the squatters, and earns Polly's gratitude.

CHAPTER II.—Evelyn Robertson discovers from her mother that they are not rich, as she supposed, but practically living on the bounty of Robert Percival, Evelyn's cousin.

CHAPTER III.—Polly learns from Evelyn that the sympathetic stranger is Robert Percival. Evelyn charges Polly with a message to Bennett, telling him she can give him no more money, and urging him to be patient. She already bitterly regrets her infatuation with and marriage to the ignorant farmer.

CHAPTER IV.—Polly conveys her message, and Oscar makes threats. He insists Evelyn meet him that night. Polly has her father and Larry Bishop, a squatter who has suffered from the enmity of MacKenzie, take an oath to do him no injury.

CHAPTER V.—Evelyn unsuccessfully tries to get money from her mother with which to buy off Bennett and induce him to leave the country, giving her her freedom. She is really enamored of Marcus MacKenzie. At the arranged meeting that night Bennett threatens Evelyn with exposure unless she procures money for him.

CHAPTER VI.—Polly meets Robert Percival, and they are mutually attracted, Polly's feeling being something like adoration.

CHAPTER VII.—Overhearing a conversation between Polly and Robert Percival, Bennett, really caring nothing for Evelyn and fancying himself in love with Polly, waylays the girl when she leaves Percival and abuses and threatens her. Percival returns and thrashes the farmer. He asks Polly in what way he can aid her and she begs him to help the squatters. Percival is rich and influential, though lacking the power of MacKenzie, but agrees to do his best. MacKenzie visits the Hopkins shack with an offer to the squatters, through Hopkins, to leave the vicinity, offering them a trifling sum of money. The offer is refused and MacKenzie threatens to burn their pitiful dwellings and leave them homeless.

CHAPTER VIII.—Polly visits Percival in the Robertson home in an effort to enlist his aid, and he is on the point of declaring his love for her, when the girl, in a panic, flees. MacKenzie asks Evelyn to be his wife. The girl agrees to marry him after he has bought the Bennett farm and got rid of the squatters. Robert fails in an effort to secure the aid of Mrs. Robertson and Evelyn in a project to help the Silent City people.

CHAPTER IX.—Knowing Bennett's infatuation for Polly, Evelyn tries to induce the girl to promise to marry him, he having agreed to release Evelyn to secure Polly. In love with Percival, though scarcely realizing it, the girl refuses. Meeting Robert next day, he tells her he loves her, and she acknowledges a similar feeling for him. MacKenzie lays a trap for Hopkins and the latter is arrested.

CHAPTER X.—Polly goes to the Robertson home to enlist Percival's aid in freeing her father. MacKenzie jeers at her. He is also deaf to Robert's pleadings, and the latter, though assuring Polly of all the help he can give her, feels himself powerless.

"...e, dear," he began hesitatingly, "I want something done very badly, and perhaps you can accomplish it for me."

A lazy smile stole to Evelyn's lips.

"And you know, Bob, I'll do it if I can," she responded. "Tell me what's on your mind, honey."

"Certainly; why, yes, indeed," interjected Mrs. Robertson. "You know, Bob, Eve and I will do anything we can for you!"

The expression of anxiety, which his face had worn since he had seen the last of Polly Hopkins, lifted a little.

"That's fine!" he exclaimed heartily. "There's nothing like a fellow's own women folks, is there? And you're just as good to me as if I belonged to you."

Mrs. Robertson bridled consciously, pleased with her nephew and pleased with herself.

"Why, Robert, dear," she returned, "you do belong to us. God bless you, boy, you're my baby and Eve's little brother. Now tell us what's bothering you."

"It's Marc's row with the squatters! I can't get the poor devils out of my mind. Eve, can't you get him to leave the settlement people alone? I'd let them have some of my land, but it doesn't touch the lake, and they couldn't make a living on it."

Evelyn arose and crossed the room to the table. She had not expected this. Her promise to MacKenzie flashed into her mind!

"I don't like interfering with Marc's business, Bob," she demurred. "Besides, he wants to improve the property down there, and he can't while the fishermen stay on the shore!"

Gently, for Robert had always been like a younger brother to her, and she loved him dearly, Evelyn explained MacKenzie's plans and showed how impossible it was for her, under the circumstances, to interfere with them. Then she crossed to his side and bent over him.

"Robert, dear," she begged. "Forget about the squatters. They aren't anything special to you!" To head off an objection that she saw in his eyes, she hurried on: "They're poor and unfortunate, I know. I'm sorry for them. We all are; but you can't deny they're worthless and filthy, and worst of all, they haven't any right to be where they are. You won't let them come between you and Marc and me, will you?"

Without giving the man a chance to answer, Mrs. Robertson interrupted:

"Mercy, Eve, why of course he won't! Marc will soon be one of the family. People of our social standing don't wrangle over such cattle as the squatters." She turned smilingly to the young man and ended sweetly: "You feel that way, don't you, Bob?"

Disregarding both the lady and her question, Robert got up, his lips grim and his fine brow corrugated with lines. Evelyn and Marcus could do as they pleased; he would take his stand right there.

"Evelyn," he said slowly, "I should be sorry to have anything come between us. You've always been like a dear sister to me. I suppose it's natural and right for you to see this the way Marc does. You're engaged to him, but you can tell him for me I'm going to help the squatters any way and every way I can."

Too angry to listen to any more arguments, he pushed his chair to one side and left the room.

Mrs. Robertson looked daggers at her daughter and as soon as she could get her breath, broke out:

"Now, Evelyn, see what a storm you've stirred up! Why didn't you use a little diplomacy? That was the least you could have done. You get Marc and Bob by the ears, and where'll you be!"

"Oh! I don't know! I don't know!" moaned Evelyn. "Don't talk to me any more. I'm just about crazy. I'm going to bed! Good night!"

CHAPTER IX.

In spite of the weight of apprehension that pressed upon the Silent City, Polly's soul insisted on singing with gladness. She found opportunity, even in the midst of her busy hours, to live over and over the adventures of that evening in the Robertson house. When she remembered how Robert had held her in his arms, her happiness made her almost faint.

She allowed Jerry's gingham blouse to fall neglected in her lap, as in imagination she dwelt on every incident of her visit. She recalled the thrilling tenderness in Robert's words, and her face grew soft in delightful revery.

A sound at the door brought her thoughts back and she glanced up, startled. Unnoticed, the blouse dropped to the floor as Evelyn Robertson came in. Embarrassed and in silence, Pollyop arose and offered her a chair.

"You ain't feeling well, I net," she burst out, wiping the dust from the rope seat of the rocker with her skirt. "You look white like the moon does before a rain. Go on, an' sit down!"

Sinking back, Evelyn looked steadily up at her. Then she caught at the hand resting on her shoulder.

"Pollyop, I've come to you because you're the only friend I have," she exclaimed, tears misting her eyes.

"I'm awful glad you come to me," Polly breathed softly. "You want me to run to Oscar again? I can't stand the sight of that duffer, but I'll go just the same. Have you got a letter?"

Wiping her eyes, Evelyn shook her head.

"No, but Oscar wants to see you," she replied. She paused and studied the girl. "Polly," she continued,

"I'm Awful Glad You Come to Me," Polly Breathed Softly.

"don't you want to do something for—for your people? There's a way, Pollyop, that you can—"

Impulsively Polly could not wait.

"Do you mean help Daddy Hopkins an' the rest of 'em?" she interrupted.

"The Sky Pilot" Is Real Gem At T. & D. Theater

Probably because of the fact that he thoroughly knows the subject whereof he writes, Ralph Connor's story, "The Sky Pilot," which King Vidor has directed as a motion picture, is one of the real gems among current motion picture releases.

Ralph Connor, whose real name is Rev. Charles W. Gordon, and whose steady occupation is not writing books at all, but preaching the gospel in his little Canadian church, is to be congratulated upon the sincere manner in which Catherine Curtis Productions have translated his story to the screen. Few authors can claim as interesting a film version of their work as can the Reverend Gordon.

The story deals with a young minister who is sent into the Canadian ranch belt to spread the gospel among the cowboys. His trials and tribulations, his fights, his faith, his hope are masterfully interpreted by King Vidor, through John Bowers, who plays the title role. How the pilot, unpopular at first, wins the cowboys, who surprise him on Christmas morning by leading him blind-folded down a snow-covered trail to show him the little frame church they have built without his knowledge, forms the human note of the story which is featured by several smashing dramatic scenes.

"The Sky Pilot" will begin a two-day engagement at the Richmond T. & D. Theater.

Healing Cream Stops Catarrh

Clogged Air Passages Open at Once—Nose and Throat Clear.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freley. No more hawking or snuffling. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

Star Points' Dance At East Shore Was Brilliant Picture

One of the prettiest scenes that has so far taken place in the dancing pavilion at East Shore Park was that of Tuesday evening when Star Points of Miramar Chapter entertained.

The five Star Points, Mrs. Virginia Bryant, Mrs. Hazel Waldorf, Mrs. Mollie Black, Miss Eleanor Axelson and Miss Muriel Burdon, opened the proceedings by stepping inside a triangle of flowers and marching to the center of the floor, forming a five-pointed star. Thus they led the grand march, the worthy matron and worthy patron coming next in order and the guests falling into place to the strains of the music. At the head of the room the Star Points stepped aside and placed the floral triangle in front of them as a frame, forming a beautiful picture in their gowns of delicate pastel shades. As each guest passed them by they were handed paper carnival caps which when donned added to the general attractiveness of the scene.

Programs bore the likeness of George Washington and a large picture of the Father of His Country formed part of the general decorations. As a background to the fluttering American flags, thousands of colored stars were placed and the effect was gay in the extreme.

For the seventh dance the lights were lowered, a large electric star in the star point colors giving the effect of moonlight, and the Hawaiian music played by Denny Shaw's orchestra was encored many times.

The committee assisting the Star Points were Misses Moore, Renwick, Peterson, Fitzpatrick, Roe, Delp, Mabel Axelson, Edna Nystrom, Hazel Nystrom and Messrs. Abraham, Rannells, Moore, Doll, Merritt, Hewitt, Olson, Black, Adams and Gorgoschlitz.

Sulphur Clears A Pimply Skin

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggest for a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

GIVE FONG WAN HERBS CREDIT FOR HIS LIFE

Willits, Cal., Nov. 14, 1921.
It affords me much pleasure to express my approval of the FONG WAN HERB CO. I suffered from liver and stomach for twenty years. After X-ray and other examinations medical physicians pronounced my case a surgical one. They declared that no treatment could reach the seat of my trouble. They said that the operation would consist of removing a duodenal ulcer, my appendix and gall bladder; also that there would have to be a pyloric operation.
Dreading the operating table, I took up treatment with the FONG WAN HERB CO., 548 Eighth St., Oakland. At that time I weighed but 128 pounds, my normal weight being 170 pounds. My condition in general was very weak.
After three months' use of the Herbs, I went to work handling lumber ten hours each day. Have now held the job fourteen months and have not lost a day on account of my old trouble. It is the first time I have been able to go longer than three months in twenty years without being sick in bed. I feel that I can give the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT credit for my life. My present weight is 160 pounds.

Birthday Party on Top of Hill Beckons Friends

If you live on top of a hill and you are one of the popular matrons of the community you can't hide your birthday, even if you want to, and yesterday Mrs. George Schramm, 115 Motecito avenue, was surprised when a group of friends arrived at lunch time, and then some more cane and again more, till there were over thirty present. On behalf of the assembled well wishers Mrs. James Bly presented Mrs. Schramm with a very handsome silver electric coffee percolator.

Then various mysterious packages were unpacked and a delicious luncheon of sandwiches, salads, and cakes appeared on the scene. The birthday cake was a beauteous creation, made by Mrs. James Bly, famous for her cakes of pink and white hue, and with its pink candles in their rose settings on the white icing was all that a perfect birthday cake should be.

A novel guessing contest was enjoyed later and Mrs. J. Toneri carried away the first and Mrs. H. French the consolation.

Several musical numbers were rendered during the afternoon as follows: Songs, Mrs. J. O. Redman; piano, Mrs. W. F. Downing; several selections were rendered by a vocal quartette, consisting of Mesdames F. E. Tiller, W. R. Collins, J. L. Barton and Thomas Ross, accompanied by Mrs. Downing. Mrs. Bly recited several poems and presented a conundrum contest.

Mesdames Jafes Bly, C. Pressler and Henry Schramm sponsored the party and made all the arrangements.

Those present were: Mesdames C. H. Schramm, L. Stromberg, C. Pressler, F. Neville, S. J. Hocking, A. Frnacino, W. F. Downing, B. Miller, F. E. Tiller, R. Rasmussen, J. Toneri, A. Stromberg, J. Lindall, C. Sanford, Alfred Stromberg, J. C. Bly, W. Cottingham, J. L. Barton, G. Emerald, C. C. Adams, Osborne, T. Ross, H. Grover, C. Bradley, H. French, J. Whalen, J. Allison, L. M. Hensel, W. R. Point Air Charged With Savory Smells

The whirr of the egg beater is heard in the Point today and savory whiffs of baking cakes, Boston baked beans in the cooking, and various other good things are in the air. Stewards of the First M. E. church are holding a food sale tomorrow morning in the store of B. McWhorter and it will be good policy to be there early as things go quickly when the ladies of the First Methodist church are the cooks. MANY MATTERS ENGAGE THE TRUSTEES, CITY OF EL CERRITO

Lights, water mains, compensation insurance and street improvements occupied most of the time of the trustees of El Cerrito at their meeting held last evening.

Proposed Street Work

As the result of an informal gathering of the members of the trustees and property owners, held Wednesday evening, Mayor Phil A. Lee reported last night that it was the opinion of nearly every one that street work should be pushed as rapidly as possible. In order to keep the cost of the work at a minimum a six-inch water macadam pavement will be put in. The first streets to be taken up will be portions of Norval, Everett, Richmond, Elm, and Eureka. During the coming week City Engineer Farley is to interview contractors and ascertain if they will submit bids for the proposed work, if the trustees order the improvement.

Street Lights

Trustee Peter Larsen objected to the lights that had been installed on the streets. He said a type of reflector had been placed on the 100 candlepower lamps that almost made the lamps useless, and urged that the lighting company be compelled to put proper reflectors in place. Some of the trustees suggested that 250 candlepower lights be substituted, and Larsen replied by saying that this was evidently just what the lighting company wished, as it would make their bills larger.

Water Mains Needed

Mayor Lee reported to the board that he had a consultation with officials of the East Bay Water Company about the placing of larger water mains in the city, and that their improvement could be secured, but that the water company would insist on the city going back to the old basis charged, which would mean an expense of $800 per year, and in addition the cost of the fire hydrants. Members of the trustees expressed much complaint about the condition of the water pipes in all parts of the city, that much of it had been down for the past thirteen years, and as a result it was almost worthless. Trustee Grant said that on Elm street within a distance of three blocks the water pipe was leaking in four different places, with the result the street was a mudhole at all times. Grant said when the pipe was fixed in one place a leak started in another section.

The result of the discussion was that City Attorney H. J. Wildgrube was instructed to take the matter up with the Railroad Commission and see if the East Bay Water Company could not be compelled to place its pipes in proper condition, and before the program of street improvement was started.

Liability Insurance

George W. Adams reported to the trustees the rates for compensation insurance for the employees of the city. Members of the volunteer fire department would be covered by this insurance, and the cost to the city will only be $2 per year per member. Some of the members did not think the city was liable for injuries to firemen of the volunteer department, but City Attorney Wildgrube informed them that it was. Trustee Grant urged that in taking out the insurance that the members of the fire department be included, as he thought they were entitled to the protection. Finally it was decided to ask a representative of the State Compensation Fund to appear before the trustees at their next meeting.
